RESIDENTS AND COUNCIL CELEBRATE VICTORY IN AUGHTON HOMES ROW

Report by Kenny Parker

LOCAL campaigners are celebrating victory in a three-year battle over plans to develop 400 homes on land in Aughton.

Proposals by Redrow Homes and Wainhomes to build 250 and 150 properties respectively at land near to Parrs Lane and Prescot Road have been rejected after a second appeal to the Planning Inspectorate was dismissed.

The decision has also been welcomed by West Lancs MP, Rosie Cooper.

The developers had made a conjoined application to the government adjudicator after a planning application to West Lancs Council in 2015 was rejected.

The housebuilders had already previously applied to the Planning Inspectorate in 2016, which resulted in Wainhomes being granted permission but Redrow again being denied.

However, a subsequent appeal to the High Court by West Lancs Council saw the inspectorate's decision in favour of Wainhomes quashed. The inspectorate decision against Redrow was also quashed.

West Lancs Council has maintained that according to its Local Plan, the 'Plan B' site can only be built upon if there is insufficient housing built on other land.

The homebuilders argued that conditions for Plan B had been met, which the council disputed.

In making his decision, Planning Inspector Kevin Ward, who held a four-day consultation in Ormskirk earlier in the year when he also visited the site, agreed with the council.

He wrote: "None of the triggers for Plan B have been activated" and added that the proposed development also conflicted with other council policies and would "involve the loss of a significant area of the best and most versatile agricultural land."

Rosie Cooper said: "This is a fantastic win for those residents who have campaigned for so many years initially against the site's inclusion in the Local Plan and continued the fight through the planning application and appeal stages.

"It is important to build houses to provide for young and first-time buyers but such development should always be in appropriate settings and developers can't be left to cherry-pick where they wish to build based on profits. Housing should be built based on where there is a need and not based on where the greatest profits are."

The land at Parrs Lane that was under threat of development.

Colin Atkinson, chairman of Aughton Residents Group (2012) added: 'We would like to thank West Lancs Council for the resilience and professionalism they have displayed in their robust defence of the Local Plan and appreciate the united opposition to these appeals demonstrated by the planning portfolio holder, local ward councillors and the clerk to Aughton Parish Council.

"We would also like to thank the many local people who supported us behind the scenes."

Matt Grayson, for Redrow Homes, said: "Naturally we are disappointed at the Inspector's decision because the proposal would have made a significant contribution to meeting housing needs, including the provision of affordable housing, in West Lancashire. We will review his findings."

West Lancs Council have been contacted for comment.

County police rated 'good' at keeping people safe and reducing crime

Government watchdog praises effectiveness of constabulary - despite receiving highest volume of calls per population outside London

Report by Henry James

LANCASHIRE Police and Crime Commissioner, Clive Grunshaw, has welcomed the latest inspectors' finding that Lancashire Constabulary is "good at effectively keeping people safe and reducing crime" - despite police in the county receiving the second highest volume of calls for its population, after London.

Figures released by Her Majesty's Inspectorate of Constabulary and Fire & Rescue Services show that Lancashire Constabulary received 376 calls for assistance per 1,000 people in the 12 months to June 30 2017 - well above the national average of 282.

Only the Metropolitan Police in London received more calls at 416 per 1,000.

Lancashire Police and Crime Commissioner, Clive Grunshaw

Clive Grunshaw said: "Inspectors have been clear that in Lancashire the police are doing a good job at keeping people safe and acting to reduce crime.

"However, the savings we still have to make and the demands being placed on the force continue to put a significant strain on the service.

"We are seeing more and more people contacting the police and, having seen the demand on the contact centre, I am not surprised Lancashire is one of the busiest forces in the country.

"I have said repeatedly that we are seeing the result of cuts to services across the public sector, which many of the most vulnerable people in Lancashire rely on. When people reach crisis point there is often no other safety net, meaning the police are increasingly the emergency service of first resort.

"Staff and officers deserve praise for the work they are doing under this extreme pressure. However, the Government needs to understand the impact that austerity in policing, and throughout the public sector is having, leaving officers to pick up the pieces when people's lives fall apart."

‘Don’t give money to bus stop beggar’!

Parish council issues warning to kind-hearted residents not to be taken in by bogus ‘homeless’ man

Report by Kenny Parker

A PARISH council has issued a notice urging people not to give any more money to a man claiming to be homeless.

The notice says that the man, who is understood to have been begging in Bickerstaffe since before Christmas, and who has ‘taken over’ a bus stop at Four Lane Ends in the village, has rejected all offers of assistance.

It has subsequently been found that he has a home and has also been seen being dropped off and picked up by car.

The parish council says its main concern is the risk to public heath as food left by caring residents is attracting rats. Meanwhile donated bedding, including a mattress, has become a fly-tipping issue.

The bus stop in Bickerstaffe - complete with bedding and bogus ‘homeless please help’ sign - that has been taken over by a man who it has been confirmed has a home and has been seen being dropped off and picked up by car

Declined

It is also believed an accident was caused by a motorist stopping at the busy road to offer the man assistance,

The parish council statement reads: “From the start when the man first appeared, West Lancs Borough Council made every effort to assist him, including arranging for the Homeless Team to visit, which they did on several occasions.

“The parish council sought the help from homeless charities and shelters also, but all assistance was declined.

“Working with WLBC, the parish council have now established that this person is not homeless but lives in a town outside the parish, and has been seen being dropped off in the morning and picked up at night.

“In this case the person seems to merely be begging at this location. Begging is against the law. Now that it has been established that this man is most definitely not homeless, the authorities have begun to remove non-personal items bit by bit (some of which may have been left at the roadside by well-meaning passers-by, but which amount to fly-tipping now), and we hope that eventually the bus stop, area and shelter will be cleared as local residents cannot use the bus shelter as it is.”

The council said that local businesses had reported that kind-hearted residents had regularly been giving the man £10 and £20 notes for food, beer and coffee.

The notice added: “Unfortunately the success of this person in obtaining money at this location has meant it is a lucrative spot from which to beg.

“Whilst the parish council wish to make clear that it will do all it can for anyone genuinely in need, as we are sure the public would too, we would urge members of the public not to give money or items to the person who waits around the bus shelter, as he is not in fact homeless.

“We hope that if everyone can work together, this issue might be solved to prevent accidents to the public, or the person himself at what is a very dangerous location; and to prevent the fly-tipping and vermin issues also.”

West Lancs allocated £210,000 for flood defences at Appley Bridge and surface water management plan at Burscough

THE Environment Agency (EA) has confirmed funding for two schemes in West Lancashire to build up defences against flooding.

Environment minister, Thérèse Coffey has announced that 25 new schemes across the UK will receive a share of £36 million to improve flood protection.

Out of that money, West Lancashire is to receive £110,000 to review and enhance its flood defences at Calico Brook in Appley Bridge, and a further £100,000 for a surface water management plan in Burscough.

Work at Appley Bridge is to begin by the end of June this year and will affect 88 homes, the EA says, while the works in Burscough will commence after April 2019 and will affect 35 homes.

Thérèse Coffey said: “This funding will benefit projects across the country from Hull to Gloucester, from Wolverhampton to the Wirral, that need an extra boost for flood defences to help our communities continue to prosper and grow in the future.

“Not only will this investment make places more resilient against flooding, but it will help the local economy, enhance the natural environment and protect important areas of culture - whether it is the homes, businesses and cultural sites in Hull, to the pier in Seahouses or the natural environment in Gloucester.”

West Lancs MP, Rosie Cooper said she had previously been given confirmation from EA that it was seeking to carry out flood defence work in West Lancashire.

However Ms Cooper had been informed the work would be carried out at Hurlston Brook, which would affect 350 homes, and Calico Brook in Appley Bridge.

At the time of writing clarification is being sought from Lancashire County Council, which will manage the flood defence schemes, regarding what the Burscough flood work will involve.

School unveils plaque in memory of director

STAFF and pupils at the Maharishi Free School in Cobbs Brow Lane, Lathom attended the unveiling of a new plaque on their reception class building, previously known as The Qube.

The plaque dedicates the building to the school's late executive director, Richard Scott, who passed away last September, and will now be known as The Richard Scott Qube.

Mr Scott's widow, Claire, who unveiled the plaque, said: "Thank you. Richard would be delighted but also bemused at this plaque in his honour.

"Delighted for the children who are able to benefit from this wonderful addition to the Maharishi Free School, but bemused because it wasn't his style to seek recognition or attention for his work.

"He was entirely devoted to providing consciousness-based education to as many children as possible, but would be the first to deflect any credit to his teacher and inspiration Maharishi Mahesh Yogi who gave us the Transcendental Meditation technique and this wonderful system of education, and also to everyone else who worked with him to acquire the funding."

The reception classroom was built two years ago to the latest energy-saving specifications.

It has large, full-height windows across the whole front of the classroom and another window at the back with a view over fields to the woodland in the distance.

A spokesman for the Maharishi School said: "Richard secured the funding for the Qube from the Department for Education, to replace some temporary cabins and it is a great addition to the school's premises.

"The children in reception enjoy learning in their beautiful classroom and visitors to the school are always impressed with it.

"We understand the school's next focus is to extend and enhance the building's outdoor play area by adding a canopy and some serious play equipment."

Borough's rare bees protected - thanks to community grant funding

Report by Henry James

RARE species of bees have been protected in West Lancashire thanks to a £15,000 grant from the Whitemoss Community Fund.

The Places for People and Pollinators project has been delivered by Lancashire Wildlife Trust for the past two years at the historic Ashurst Beacon and looks to manage the grassland habitat which is particularly valuable for bees.

Records show some rare species of bee are present at Ashurst Beacon including the nationally scarce Black-headed mining bee and Tormentil mining bee and the regionally scarce Heath bumble bee and Hill cuckoo bee.

The project comes to an end later this month and Ben Hargreaves, Lancashire Wildlife Trust's Plan Bee Project officer, said: "It has been a pleasure to carry out this valuable project.

"Ashurst Beacon is a superb site in many respects, being valued as a historical and cultural asset, as well as being of significant interest for its range of habitats and associated fauna.

"The site has notable importance for invertebrates including the ground-nesting 'mining-bees'. The various habitat management and access works LWT have carried out aim to retain and enhance this value."

The Tormentil mining bee

Financed by Whitemoss Landfill Limited, who operate the landfill site in Skelmersdale, the Whitemoss Community Fund has awarded grants for community projects surrounding the site each year since 2010.

Rob Routledge, chair of the Whitemoss Community Fund Advisory group said: "Whitemoss Landfill is committed to supporting our local community and to protecting the environment. This project has achieved both those aims improving a local site which is important to both people and wildlife."

County allocated extra £2.4m to tackle pothole problem

LANCASHIRE'S roads are set to benefit from extra Government cash to tackle damage caused by the winter conditions.

Transport Secretary Chris Grayling announced that the Government has set aside £100 million for local councils to help repair potholes and other storm damage, with Lancashire County Council awarded just under £2.4m.

The minister says that the money will add to £75 million already given to councils from the Pothole Action Fund this year, as well as an additional £46 million boost for highways authorities announced just before Christmas.

Mr Grayling said: "People rely on good roads to get to work and to see friends or family. We are giving councils even more funding to help repair their roads so all road-users can enjoy their journeys without having to dodge potholes."

The Government is also investing more than £900,000 in innovations using connected vehicles to help councils more efficiently manage and plan maintenance works. These trials will ultimately help provide councils with data to enable them to repair potholes before they occur, as well as maintain their other assets more effectively. This will help prevent further potholes and other road defects occurring over time.

Blackpool Council has been given £100,000 to lead on a digital inspector scheme. This will see high definition cameras mounted on vehicles to collect data on road and path conditions, which is then analysed by computers to highlight where roads are deteriorating.

Clocktower Club members travel to Uganda to unveil plaque at school for which they raised funds to renovate

Report by Kenny Parker

MEMBERS of the Ormskirk Clocktower Rotary Club have travelled to Uganda to place a commemorative plaque on the walls of a primary school for which they had raised £3,000 to renovate and extend.

The improvements to the school, which is situated near to Kampala, mean that it is now a place where final examinations can take place.

The old roof, which leaked, and its wooden supports, which had been eaten by termites, have also been replaced.

The £3,000 consisted of a grant from the district Rotary association which was match-funded by various fundraising events held by the local Rotary group and the Pearl of Africa Child Care charity.

Donations

The team that travelled to Uganda has links to the Molly and Paul Child Care Foundation, a non-government Ugandan charity set up to provide homes, education and medical attention to more than 2,000 orphaned, homeless or destitute children.

The UK-based charity, Pearl of Africa Child Care, which helps to run this Ugandan foundation, also organise the annual UK tour by the Pearl of Africa Children's Choir, well known in the West Lancs area for their African singing, dancing and drumming performances.

And the team from Clocktower Rotary, headed by Liz Tonge, didn't travel empty-handed.

They have received enough donations of clothes, toys, educational equipment and medical supplies from the local area to fill 20 large suitcases.

These will be distributed to the schools, orphanages and clinics belonging to the foundation. There have also been generous donations of cash which the team hope to use to complete projects in the area.

Northern to launch hourly service between Ormskirk and Preston

RAIL company Northern has announced plans to introduce an hourly service between Ormskirk and Preston.

Though details are still to be finalised with Network Rail, the company says it will run the new service from Mondays to Saturdays starting in May.

A Northern train waiting at Preston bound for Ormskirk

At present the service runs at a frequency of one hour and 20 minutes on weekdays, and one hour and 24 minutes on Saturday, with the first service leaving Ormskirk at 6.59am and the last at 10.56pm.

The proposed new service will run at one minute past the hour starting at 7.01am from Ormskirk until 10.01pm, with a last train at 11.10pm.

Trains from Preston to Ormskirk will start at 6.25am with the last service at 10.37pm.

The news was welcomed by campaign group the Ormskirk Preston Southport Travellers Association (Opsta).

Chairman, Alan Fantom, said: "We campaigned for this and presented the hard evidence from our passenger surveys and research to all of the bidders for the franchise awarded in 2016 and it is pleasing to see this about to happen.

"Now we need to see it delivered reliably, with timely connections to Merseyrail and continue to press for Sunday services."

He said it wasn't all good news for rail users however as the operator also announced it was to axe direct services from Southport to Piccadilly and Manchester Airport, except for two early morning services to Alderley Edge via Piccadilly and three return services in the evening.

Mr Fantom also said there appears to be no short-term prospect of new trains on the area's lines.

Student caught up in terror attack takes campaign for better victim support to European Commission

Report by Henry James

AN Edge Hill student who was caught up in last year's Westminster Bridge attack while on a field trip has presented his campaign for better support for victims and survivors of terrorism to high-profile figures at the European Commission.

Third-year history with politics student, Travis Frain, travelled to Brussels to address the commission and ministers from across the EU.

Testimonies from other victims and support organisations across Europe were also heard and a seminar discussing the specific issue of compensation for victims was held.

Sir Julian King, the EU Commissioner for the Security Union also agreed to meet with Travis privately following the event, where he was able to express some of these issues on a one-to-one basis.

Travis Frain

Travis said: "I was invited to the event through an organisation that I am a trustee of, The Tim Parry Jonathan Ball Peace Foundation, and also through a campaign/pressure group that I co-founded along with a number of other UK citizens affected by terror incidents at home and abroad.

"The EU Commission reached out to victims of recent attacks through a European organisation known as The Radicalisation Awareness Network and they contacted me personally to ask if I would give my testimony.

"I raised in some detail the issue of press intrusion, as well as the lack of financial support for victims and survivors in the aftermath of terror attacks. I also highlighted the fact that no commemorative events were planned for the anniversary of the Westminster attack, as well as mentioning how we have yet to have any elected politician of any party or position meet with us as victims.

"It felt really good to just share these issues and get them off my chest – something that we have not been able to do so far in a national context as it sadly appears that the appetite for discussion on this issue is just not there. It was also really interesting, and upsetting at times, to hear of other affected peoples' stories from across Europe.

"This campaign isn't about myself or my friends, or what we went through. While I believe there needs to be some recognition that the necessary preparations to deal with the aftermath of terror attacks were clearly not effectively put in place, this campaign is more about preventing and fixing these issues before other families have to go through them again.

"Terrorism in many forms has existed for quite some years now, but this makes it all the more so disappointing that we see very little improvement in how we treat those injured, traumatised, or otherwise left to deal with the scars these attacks leave behind for the rest of their lives."

Village hall wins grant funding for 'Green Heat' project

SOLAR-powered heating and air conditioning has been installed at Parbold Village - thanks to a grant from the Lancashire Environmental Fund.

Parbold Community Association, a charity run by volunteers, manages the hall for the benefit of the community. It was awarded £35,000 to have the environmentally-friendly and cost-effective heating and air cooling system installed in the studio and service areas of the hall.

Officials of the association, which meets all expenses for the hall from income generated through events, says that the 'Green Heat' project will help to sustain the viability of the facility for the community.

In particular, the air-conditioning in the studio will benefit the baby and children's music and sensory sessions and the regular meetings by other users.

It is hoped funds will be available in the future to install similar systems for the hall's main auditorium.

The Lancashire Environmental Fund was established in 1998 as a not-for-profit organisation to support the community and environmental projects within the county.

Funds are provided by SUEZ Recycling and Recovery UK Ltd., Lancashire County Council and various third-party organisations and to date £25 million has been distributed to various projects.

Don't miss out on your chance to vote in local elections

VOTERS in 18 West Lancashire Borough Council wards and six parish areas will go to the polls on Thursday, May 3 for the 2018 local elections - but residents are being reminded that they can still vote even if they can't get to a polling station on the day.

Anyone who thinks they won't be able to go to the polling station can apply for a postal vote; or alternatively they can apply for a proxy vote where someone they nominate can go and cast a vote on their behalf.

Kim Webber, Returning Officer for West Lancashire, said: "There are many reasons to choose to use this process, you don't need to be away or be housebound to apply for a postal or a proxy vote.

"Contact the borough council as soon as you can and make sure you can vote in these elections. Anyone who wants to vote in this year's elections, either by post, proxy or going to the polling station, must be on the Electoral Register."

West Lancs Council's chief executive, Kim Webber who will be Returning Officer at the upcoming elections

The detail of the applications process is as follows.

Register to vote

If people receive a poll card for this election, they are already registered to vote and do not need to do anything else. However, residents can check whether they're registered by calling the elections office on 01695 585014.

They can also fill in an online registration at ww.gov.uk/register-to-vote or www.westlancs.gov.uk/registertovote.

For more information email elections.office@westlancs.gov.uk.

If people do not have access to the internet, they can ask the elections office for a paper registration form to be sent to them. The closing date to register to vote at the May elections is Tuesday, April 17.

Postal or proxy votes

If residents want to apply for a postal or proxy vote form, they should call the Elections Office on 01695 585014, email elections.office@westlancs.gov.uk or download an application form from www.westlancs.gov.uk/howtovote.

Alternatively they can call in to the council offices at 52 Derby Street, Ormskirk.

The completed application form for a postal vote must reach the council by 5pm on Wednesday, April 18 and completed application forms for a proxy vote must arrive by 5pm on Wednesday, April 25.

Emergency proxy votes

The council has said that applications to vote by emergency proxy at these elections can be applied for only on the grounds of a medical emergency or for occupation, service or employment reasons, where the reason occurred after 5pm on Wednesday, April 25.

Completed applications must reach the Electoral Registration Officer at 52 Derby Street, Ormskirk, by 5pm on Thursday, May 3.

Family firm 'left shaken' by former MD's £845k theft

Report by Kenny Parker

THE boss of a family business that was swindled out of more than £845,000 by its former managing director has spoken of how the company was "left shaken" by the theft.

LS Systems, established in 1988 is a horticultural business based in Tarleton, providing products and service to growers, along with irrigation and water management systems, and engineering projects.

The business prides itself on offering a friendly service backed by sound family values, and chief executive officer Keith Ball says the company's ethics are based on trust, honesty and good, 'down to earth' morals.

However, family and staff were by revelations of the vast extent of former employee David Scott's criminal activities.

Scott, 53, of Moss Lane, Bursocugh, has been jailed at Preston Crown Court for seven years and three months after being found guilty of theft and conspiring to steal and removing criminal property.

The court heard he had transferred £746,000 to different bank accounts he controlled between 2007 and 2013, purchasing three properties with the money. He also spent £99,000 of company money on third-party supplies, goods and services for the improvement and development of one of the properties.

Two other workers, Colin Balshaw, 45, of Heathfield Road, Southport, who was employed as a technical field sales representative and Richard Adderley, 32, of Station Road, New Longton, who was an office and internet sales person, were also drawn into Scott's criminal activity by assisting him to buy £27,000 of Hunter Wellington boots using LS Systems accounts and then selling them for £100,000 profit on the company's eBay profile.

LS Systems in Tarleton

They both pleaded guilty to conspiring to steal and removing criminal property and were both sentenced to 10 months' imprisonment suspended for two years and given 200 hours unpaid work.

Keith Ball told the Champion: "We have been targeted by David Scott who is a professional con man and who used sophisticated and clever methods to defraud us in a number of ways.

"The whole experience has shaken my team and my family but thanks to their support we have pulled through.

"Now that justice has been done to the culprits, thanks especially to the police, we can refocus and concentrate on supplying our customers with the best service we can, which they deserve."

Detective Constable Michael Mason, of Lancashire Police, said Scott, was "clearly a controlling and intimidating figure, whomanipulated the internal systems and stole vast sums of money."

Police have said that Proceeds of Crime Act proceedings have now begun to help recover some of the money which was stolen from the family business.

College careers fair offers youngsters a glimpse of the future

Report by Henry James

WEST Lancashire College teamed up with Future U, a collaborative project that brings together universities, colleges, schools, businesses and communities from across Lancashire, to stage an Interactive Careers and Progression Fair to mark National Careers Week and National Apprenticeship Week.

Attracting more than 1,500 local school pupils and students, the event created an opportunity to engage with more than 70 employers, organisations and universities from a wide range of sectors.

Young people had the opportunity to find out about careers, talk about their future options and the wide range of apprenticeships and job vacancies on offer to educate and inspire them on their future careers and university progression.

Employers from across the North West attended on the day to provide a range of interactive activities for pupils to get involved in. They included Graylaw Freight Group, Essity, Hotter, NSG Pilkingtons, Roq, Brownlow Utilities, Expect Ltd, Stocks Hall Care Group, Gleeds Cost Management Ltd, the Royal Airforce, the Army, Keir Group, Southport and Ormskirk NHS Trust, Service Graphics, Stackright, St Richard's RC Primary School, West Lancashire Borough Council, Walkers/PepsiCo, Job Centre Plus and Burrows Lane Farm.

Pepper the Robot makes his 'public debut' at the Future U interactive careers fair hosted by West Lancashire College.

The project also allowed the college's Higher Education hub to showcase its 'Pepper the Robot', a talking humanoid robot which can be programmed to perceive emotions and adapt its behaviour to the mood of the humans around it.

The hub also hosted North West universities providing invaluable information to students and pupils on the range of opportunities available after college.

Denise Williamson, Principal of West Lancashire College, said: "The fair was a truly collaborative and inspirational event with the college, schools, universities and employers working together to stage a fabulous extravaganza of career opportunities and hands-on activities.

"To see more than 1,500 young people being both curious and engaged in their potential future careers was so rewarding. A big thank-you goes to our learners, local schools, universities and employers who made this event so successful."

Hospital trust delighted by public's response to media appeal for return of wheelchairs

OFFICIALS at Southport and Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust have hailed the success of a media appeal for the return of wheelchairs.

In total 125 wheelchairs worth £25,000 have been returned to the trust following the appeal which featured in the Champion.

Six of the powered wheelchairs are worth more than £10,000 and wheelchair service manager at Southport and Ormskirk NHS Trust, Yvonne Baron, is delighted.

From mid-February to mid-March, 125 wheelchairs were returned to the Pimbo team based in Skelmersdale. That compares with the whole of February and March last year when only 65 were returned.

Yvonne and her team appeared on the TV, radio and in local newspapers in their appeal for the missing wheelchairs.

She said: "I would like to thank all the people who have contacted us so we were able to collect and then clean up and fix the wheelchairs so they can now be reused for other people.

"We noticed a sharp spike in the numbers returned because of the publicity we received.

"However, there are lots of NHS wheelchairs still out there and not being used - so give us a call on 01695 556 492 so we can collect even more and recycle those too!"

Happy family...Martin and Shelby Woods, with children Sienna and Noah, are overjoyed after the success of their fundraising appeal

Family's appeal joy at the double!

Report by Kenny Parker

A COUPLE from West Lancashire who launched an appeal for help to buy a physiotherapy machine for their two children who both suffer from cystic fibrosis, have received such a fantastic response from the community they are now looking to buy two machines.

The Champion reported earlier this year how 21-month-old Sienna Woods and her baby bother, Noah, aged eight months, were both born with the incurable genetic disorder which causes mucus to collect in the lungs and can also affect other organs.

As a result, the youngsters from Burscough have to undergo twice-daily physiotherapy sessions performed by their mum Shelby. They are also prone to lung infections which necessitate two-week stays in hospital for intravenous treatment, followed by three months of extra treatment at home.

Shelby and partner Martin started to raise money to buy a chest wall oscillation vest, a machine that connects to a special vibrating vest and will enable the youngsters' physiotherapy sessions to be done automatically rather than manually.

The machine costs £8,000 and vests cost £300. After raising an initial £3,600 they made an appeal, including through the Champion, for raffle prizes for a fundraising evening last Saturday (March 17).

The response was overwhelming and £2,600 was raised at the event.

Prior to the St Patrick's Day evening, however, the couple's friend, Sheelagh Charnock, contacted Southport-based charity Community Link Foundation which stepped in to donate £4,400.

'Overwhelmed'

Shelby says that they have now been able to buy the machine and six vests for Sienna and with the money left over and other planned fundraising events they will try to buy another machine for Noah.

"We are extremely grateful to everyone at Community Link Foundation and we would also like to thank everyone that came and supported us at our St Patrick's Day event, and helped make it possible, especially Sheelagh because she did such a lot of work selling tickets.

"I am completely overwhelmed with the amount of money that we have been able to raise and the support of the local community as well."

Future fundraising events in the pipeline include a sponsored bike ride from Blackpool Tower to the Eiffel Tower, and sponsored triathlons, 10Ks and cake sales.

Meanwhile the couple contacted West Lancs MP Rosie Cooper to enlist her support in a parliamentary debate on Monday (March 19) after a petition calling for the drug Orkambi - believed to slow the decline of lung function in sufferers of cystic fibrosis and prolong their lives - to be made available on the NHS, reached 110,000 signatures.

David follows in footsteps of famous wartime Telemark raiders

Report by Kenny Parker

AN RAF reservist from West Lancs has been learning winter survival skills in the mountains of Norway following in the footsteps of famous wartime raiders who stopped the Nazi atomic bomb programme.

Electrical engineer David Rowntree joined 50 other RAF reservists on Exercise Wintermarch to learn Nordic skiing, how to survive an avalanche and how to deal with extreme cold, from members of the Norwegian military.

The 29-year-old from Parbold said: "It's been a fantastic challenge and tougher than I expected but an experience that I couldn't take part in if I wasn't in the RAF Reserves."

Members of the Royal Auxiliary Air Force were based at Rjukan, 100 miles north of Oslo. The town is the site of the wartime Telemark Raid in which saboteurs dropped by the RAF destroyed a factory making vital parts for the Nazi effort to build an atomic bomb.

The reservists learned more about the operation thanks to a talk by a close friend of one of the saboteurs and a visit to the museum built on the site of the raid.

And they were taught the same skills used by the saboteurs in cross-country skiing and winter survival, finishing the gruelling week with a cross-country skiing race.

David, who serves with 611 Squadron based at Woodvale, said: "Learning more about the Telemark operation was brilliant, it was so inspirational to hear what they achieved."

"Being in the RAF Reserves pushes you out of your comfort zone. I led a map-reading training group here and I was leading people more experienced than me but it was very enjoyable."

Champion LETTERS to the Editor

Clare House, 166 Lord Street, Southport PR9 0QA
tel 01704 392 400 email editor@champnews.com

Pro-EU millionaires are only interested in how much money they can make

I WOULD like to say 'well said, Frank Baybutt'.

His letter (March 7) regarding Gina Miller of the 'Best for Britain' group & co., hit the nail right on the head there.

The question I would like to ask Mrs Miller, Richard ('help me to repair hurricane damage to my private island') Branson and all the other pro-Europe millionaires is this. Will you make more money in Europe or out of Europe?

I've got a good idea what the answer would be.

This is all to do with their wealth, plain and simple.

Also, during the campaign in the run-up to the Brexit vote I found it a disgrace that the 'three stooges' - Cameron, Major and Blair - could go around factories etc.more or less stating that if we leave the EU we'll never sell anything abroad again because what we make is rubbish and only the Europeans bail us out buying it.

What a slight on the British worker and our manufacturing. Where is the pride for the average person when you've got this crew painting a picture of doom for the economy?

Watch out, readers, I've just seen the four horsemen of the apocalypse and they're heading this way.

C. Green, Aughton

Have we ever been told the truth about Europe?

REGARDING the various contributions to your newspaper relating to exiting the European Union, I would like to add this to the debate.

In June 1975 I voted to join the European Economic Community - nothing more, nothing less.

This was, in part, due to vociferous representations from Edward Heath, before signing the Treaty of Rome in 1973, and Harold Wilson as PM in 1975, that it would be a disaster if we didn't.

The electorate was assured membership would have no impact on our borders, law enforcement, legislation and courts.

Since that referendum, through the machinations and hubris of politicians of at least all three major parties, this was changed without further reference to the electorate.

Recently, Sir John Major, in his argument for another vote on remaining or leaving the EU, said it is necessary for the people to be told the truth.

Were we deprived of the truth in 1975 and throughout the intervening years?

A. Prescott, Scarisbrick

Never been so embarrased about the area we live in

I FEEL I have to tell you, through your column, about my experiences in the 'local area' on a recent weekend.

My daughter and son-in-law plus two grandchildren stayed with us for the weekend. They had travelled from the other side of Leeds in the snow to be with us.

We decided to go to the local swings on Saturday afternoon and after freezing in the cold made our way to the Royal Oak in Aughton for a pick-me-up. Six pumps on the bar and no beer, only lager! Went home for tea.

Next morning we decided to go to Park Pool for a swim. All but a couple of staff had phoned in sick so the baby pool was closed and we had to resort to the big pool with a three and a five-year-old!

On leaving decided to go into Wetherspoons in Ormskirk and couldn't find a seat. When we did, the chair looked like someone had puked on it so we left.

Thought we would go to the Dog and Gun near to where we live and guess what? Closed!

I have lived here for the last 40 years and have never been so embarrassed with my children as to the area we live in.

Pot holes everywhere, street lights half on, 20 mph speed limits that no one takes any notice of, previously mentioned lack of grass cutting, no police presence anywhere - the last time I saw a policeman around where I live he looked like Dixon of Dock Green - I am appalled.

Whenever I visit others I see a marked difference in environment and general cleanliness and an all-round better place to live in.

Come on, wake up and demand things change for the better as soon as possible before this place shuts down permanently.

John M. Brown, Aughton

PICTURE of the week

A workman is dwarfed by the giant 60 foot crane being used to lift a series of modular buildings into Southport Hospital to create an extension to the Accident and Emergency department. Picture by Martyn Snape.

Where are all the traffic wardens when we need them?

I THOUGHT for a while traffic wardens were extinct in Ormskirk, usually see them plodding around and dishing out tickets quite happily!

I've seen a few lately but not as active as they once were. Not a man to support a lot of tickets issued but surely something has to be done on Railway Road and especially Leyland Way?

There is a fatality waiting to happen with the pedestrian use and numerous vehicles entering and leaving the car park.

Every day there are several cars there but with no tickets on any of them on the double yellow lines.

Renewable energy must be the future

IN response to Bryan Irving's letter (March 7) we could not agree more with his suggestion to start a renewable energy plan in West Lancs.

Renewable energy must be the future to keep us all safe and well to provide us with affordable energy sources.

We know that people are not keen on having the likes of solar panel farms and wind turbines in their own backyard, but look at the alternatives!

Let's all encourage West Lancs Borough Council to be forward thinking and start their own renewable energy plan.

Roz, Friends of the Earth, Ormskirk & District branch

Family parking spaces are where and what they are for a reason!

I WOULD just like to express my continued frustration with inconsiderate individuals who habitually park in the family spaces of Aldi car park.

As with the disabled spaces, these spaces are wider and closer to the store entrance for a reason.

Every week I watch childless people park in these spaces without any consideration for the parents/carers who actually require the space to be able to safely get their child/baby in and out of the car and not have to then walk the length of the car park with the baby.

Having already taken this up with Aldi directly, I have been advised that they rely on their customers' morals to utilise the spaces appropriately.

A significant amount of residents seem to have worringly lost their morals in this respect.

Angry car park user, by email

Borough declining at a rapid rate

WHY is West Lancashire being allowed to decline at a rapid rate?

We have no fully operational hospital (we hope that no family require hospital treatment as some will go to Ormskirk and others to Southport).

Police officers are a rarity on our streets. The carriageways and footpaths are in a poor condition, despite receiving Government grants. At night people are carrying torches due to the reduction in street lighting intensity.

In Up Holland we have no library or Post Office - this despite the council imposing a 5.65% increase in council tax (twice the rate of inflation) and a request for voluntary £100 donations!

But there is some good news we will soon be having yet another wheelie bin to further block the footpaths. Is this what the increase in council tax is for?

John Cooke, Up Holland

Time to show us what councillors actually do with our money

NOW would be the right time for the resident ratepayers silent majority to be advised on a regular basis what our councillors actually do.

A mandatory four reports a year to be submitted by each councillor about their portfolios and activities would be good.

We pay our rates and rents. The very least we expect is to be told in simple terms on a regular basis where and how our money is being used.

It is not shown in the annual financial report. A masterpiece of obfuscation.

We the silent majority are entitled to see what our councillors are being paid for and the amount of expenses claimed.

Graham P Walker, Up Holland

Make HMOs pay up!

COUNCILLORS are elected to represent the interests of residents, so I can't understand why landlords of student houses in Ormskirk don't have to pay council taxes.

These houses are businesses, the landlords take in thousands in rent, and the townsfolk are paying for their refuse collection!

Council tax is going up 5.65%, will people just shrug their shoulders forever, or do something to insist that HMOs pay business rate taxes from 2020?

Libraries supporting Autism Awareness Week

STAFF at Lancashire libraries are to be given greater understanding of autism to help reduce isolation felt by autistic people and their families.

Libraries across the county are taking part in Autism Awareness Week (March 26 to April 2) and are also launching a new autism booklist which includes books suitable for adults, children and their carers. And throughout April staff will take part in a range of activities to increase their understanding of the condition.

County Councillor Peter Buckley, Lancashire County Council's cabinet member for community and cultural services, said: "We're taking part in the national Autism Awareness Week as a platform to raise awareness amongst our staff.

"A campaign run by the National Autistic Society last year found that a lack of public understanding was leaving autistic people and their families socially isolated. We are doing something to tackle this."

County council launches consultation on doubling peak-time charge for disabled travel card users

LANCASHIRE County Council is consulting on proposals to increase the charge for residents who hold a disabled NoWcard to travel before 9.30am on weekdays, from 50p to £1.

The mandatory national concessionary travel scheme allows holders of a disabled person's pass to travel for free between 9.30am and 11pm Monday to Friday, and all day at weekends and bank holidays.

Councils which operate the scheme locally have discretion to offer further concessions outside these times.

Lancashire's NoWcard scheme allows holders of a disabled person's pass to travel for a 50p flat fare on journeys on local buses which begin before 9.30am on Mondays to Fridays.

County Councillor Iddon

People are being asked to let the county council know how they would be affected if proposals are agreed to increase the charge to £1.

A consultation on the proposal was launched on Monday, (March 26) and will run until Monday, May 21.

County Councillor Keith Iddon, Lancashire's cabinet member for highways and transport, said: "Like many councils, we are facing an extremely challenging financial position, with a forecasted funding gap of £144m in 2021/22.

"To help reduce pressure on the budget we're proposing to increase the charge to travel before 9.30am on weekdays from 50p to £1. However we don't want to make a decision before considering how it will affect people and I'm grateful for people taking the time to respond to the consultation over the coming weeks."

MP backs call to make ground-breaking cystic fibrosis treatment available on NHS

Report by Henry James

ROSIE Cooper has joined a cross-party group of MPs in lobbying the Health Secretary Jeremy Hunt and Business Secretary Sajid Javid calling on the Government to expedite access to ground-breaking drugs for people with cystic fibrosis in England.

Questions over the long-term value, impact and cost-effectiveness of the drug, Orkambi, have so far restricted its use on the NHS, but now its manufacturer Vertex Pharmaceutical has submitted fresh proposals to NHS England and NICE, the National Institute for Health and Care Excellence.

A letter to the ministers calls for a meeting, including with the Cystic Fibrosis Trust, to discuss the matter which is of the utmost urgency to the thousands of people and families that await progress.

West Lancs MP Rosie Cooper

West Lancs MP, Ms Cooper was keen to support the campaign on behalf of constituents and their families affected by the condition.

She said: "I was eager to add my name to this letter calling on Jeremy Hunt and Sajid Javid to provide greater access to drugs which could offer serious improvements to people with cystic fibrosis.

"Access to Orkambi and other ground-breaking drugs that support people with cystic fibrosis is important and could help many families here in West Lancashire."

Bikers rev up the funds to help trauma centre buy vital equipment

Report by Henry James

A GROUP of motorcycle enthusiasts have raised thousands of pounds to benefit some of the most seriously ill patients in the North West.

The Scarisbrick and District Armada Motorcycle Club raised £15,000 from fundraising events last year, including their two Honda C90 'Plop' Enduro races.

They have donated the money to the trauma unit at Liverpool's Aintree University Hospital.

Aintree is home to the Cheshire and Merseyside Major Trauma Centre, which provides major trauma services to 2.3m residents in the North West and Isle of Man. The department contains state-of-the-art equipment and facilities, which enables much quicker treatment for the most seriously injured patients.

Officials of the Scarisbrick and District Armada Motorcycle Club hand over the cheque for £15,000 to members of the trauma unit at Liverpool's Aintree University Hospital.

Incredible

Graeme Young, from the Scarisbrick and District Armada Club, said: "Anyone involved in motorcycling will know someone who has needed hospital treatment following biking accidents, and we know what an incredible job trauma centres like the one at Aintree do. We're delighted to have been able to make this donation."

The money donated by the club will be used to buy a number of items, including specialist kit which will allow the hospital to be involved in a national research study evaluating a revolutionary and potentially life-saving treatment that is being developed across the UK.

The procedure, called Resuscitative Endovascular Balloon Occlusion (REBOA), is used to control severe bleeding and to temporarily stabilise the patient while they are resuscitated by the trauma team and prepared for rapid transfer into the operating theatre.

The money will also be used to buy specialist chairs which will allow patients to sit out of bed earlier and assist in their rehabilitation; and a specialist shower trolley which will allow patients with complex spinal injuries to be taken into the bathroom to have a full shower, which they are currently unable to do.

Julie Peacock, major trauma operational manager at Aintree, said: "We are so grateful to the S&D Armada Club for their generosity.

"We wanted to use this money to buy kit which we wouldn't otherwise have the luxury of having and we decided on these pieces of equipment after lengthy discussions with our clinical teams. They will make a huge difference to so many of our patients while they are in our care."

Pervert priest watched child abuse on internet

Report by Lynda Roughley

A PERVERTED Roman Catholic priest secretly watched videos of children being raped in online conference chat rooms.

Father Thomas Wood, who held a senior position in the Archdiocese of Liverpool, which covers the southern area of Lancashire, spent time late at night viewing the disgusting images in internet rooms along with up to 50 other paedophiles.

Liverpool Crown Court heard that the sickening footage included children as young as eight being sexually abused by adults.

Simon Duncan, prosecuting, said: "The prosecution arises from a multi-national investigation set up into paedophiles abusing video conferencing facilities and Wood was caught in by the US Department of Homeland Security who contacted British authorities in February 2017."

The National Crime Agency discovered Wood used his iPad to access such conferences on chat room site Zoom in November 2015.

Just before midnight on November 12, Wood was watching a video showing children aged 10 to 16 being abused. He logged on again at around 1am and joined 50 people looking at a girl, aged eight to 10, being raped by a man.

On November 13, just before 2am, he was one of 50 perverts who watched two boys having sex.

When arrested, Wood told police: "I may have looked at something on the internet."

Mr Duncan said: "He said he wanted to meet other men and watch them [perform lewd acts]. He claimed he had no sexual interest in children."

When interviewed in June, Wood suggested he threw the iPad away because it was faulty, but police seized his mobile phone and hard drive. They provided evidence of him chatting about his sexual interest in children, but he again denied this to officers but three temporary internet files were found.

Wood's internet address led police to the presbytery of Our Lady's Church in Lydiate. He had a dual role at that church and at St Gregory The Great in Lydiate but stepped down when arrested last March.

Wood, 55, of Liverpool Road, Birkdale who was formerly a long-serving priest at Our Lady Star of the Sea in Seaforth, pleaded guilty to making and possessing three indecent images in the most serious category.

Damian Nolan, defending, said Wood, has voluntarily sought help from a child sex abuse charity.

Judge Clement Goldstone, QC, the Recorder of Liverpool, said Wood had written a letter which was "one of the most powerful statements of mitigation the court has ever considered."

He continued, "It's apparent that you are well aware of the enormous harm that is done to young children who are exposed to the type of abuse."

The judge said: "During that period you were wrestling with demons and there came a time when the demons got the upper hand."

The judge imposed a three-year community order and ordered him to carry out up to 30 days rehabilitation activities and to take part in a sexual treatment programme. He also ordered him to sign on the Sex Offenders Register for five years and he imposed a seven-year Sexual Harm Prevention Order.

As he left the dock, a woman in the public gallery, shouted: "Shame on you."

Father Thomas Wood

Joycelyn Neve, managing director of The Seafood Pub Company, receives the award

Pub company serves up recipe for success

THE Seafood Pub Company, owner of the Town Green Brasserie in Aughton has scooped an award for Best Food Offer at the prestigious Publican Awards in London.

The food offer from the company, which has 10 pubs in the North West including the Town Green Lane venue, was described as 'quality, creative, colourful, different, versatile and value for money'.

Joycelyn Neve, managing director of the company, attended the ceremony to collect the award from Bruce Ray, vice-president of corporate affairs and independent trade at event sponsor, Carlsberg UK.

She said: "This is the third time in four years we have been recognised in this award, which is an amazing accolade.

"A pie and a pint is just as important as lobster and champagne to us and when we see both of these dishes being enjoyed by guests at the same table, we know we've done our job well."

ABTA Travel with confidence

This silly habit of starting every sentence with 'so' is so annoying!

A LITTLE time ago I had a moan about a fairly recent and enormously irritating habit that folk - particularly but not only, younger ones - have picked up of answering any given (or even implied) question by beginning with 'so....'

I had hoped this extremely silly and pointless expression would simply die a death but unhappily the opposite seems to have happened and this stupid habit seems to be becoming almost customary with people of all ages, sexes and, I'm sorry to say, intelligence too.

But for sanity's sake, why?

The only context I can think of where 'so' would be in any way useful would be in answer to a question such as "why are you catching the train?" with the answer in this case possibly being "so I can get there more quickly."

But if I am asked where I am going for my holidays what possible sense would it make if I replied, as apparently many would these days, "so, I am going to Norfolk"? The plain fact is that used at the beginning of a sentence so means because and even that is probably superfluous in most cases.

I have no idea where this stupid waste of a word sprang from, perhaps some so-called celeb or other. And if so, how on earth does this persuade otherwise sensible folk to follow suit?

What brought this all to a head again was my watching MasterChef on telly last night - one of my favourite programmes at the moment after The Onedin Line and old Star Trek episodes, both thankfully free of 'so'.

Half of the would-be chefs were answering questions about their culinary efforts with the dreaded so! If anyone out there has a defence for this abuse of the language, I would be delighted to hear it.

Actually, there are a couple of points about MasterChef itself which rather puzzle me.

Firstly, the insistence of judges John Torode and Greg Wallace that dishes MUST be ready for serving in a given period. I'm not saying the contestants should be allowed minutes over, but to insist the dish should be plated up before 'time' is called, sometimes leaving the would-be chef with, say, gravy, sorry, sauce, on his or her face rather than on the plate, is to my mind pedantic in the extreme. After all, these are enthusiastic amateurs, not chefs in a five-star restaurant.

And secondly, in the round I watched last night stars from previous MasterChef contests were invited guests to be treated to offerings from this year's crop of hopefuls.

These three new 'experts' thoroughly disliked the two offerings of one contestant and obviously had it been up to them she would have been the one to be shown the door. The problem was though that John and Greg disagreed totally with their critique so she sailed through to the quarter-finals.

Now I reckon that John in particular really knows his stuff when it comes to the technical competence of a given chef, while Greg appears more to be the representative of the ordinary person as to how good (or otherwise) a dish tastes. So in all probability the correct decision was made - but what then was the point in having these rather puffed-up guests giving their second-hand opinions in the first place?

Mind you, some apparently modern trends in serving up food totally fox me too. This idea, apparently gaining enough ground so as not to raise a judge's eyebrows, is to serve up the meal on a flat mat, with little bowls of this or that separate - in effect, a bit like eating your meal off the tablecloth.

Nothing really wrong with the idea, but why?

"So, I saw somebody else doing it and thought it a neat idea" perhaps?

Artefacts found during renovation of historic hall

Report by Kenny Parker

WORK to restore the historic Bank Hall near Tarleton has revealed a number of interesting artefacts, according to members of conservation group, Friends of Bank Hall.

The Jacobean hall, which was last occupied in 1971 and had become derelict, is currently undergoing extensive restoration work following a Heritage Lottery award of £2.2million

Work started last summer and is expected to take 18 months. The work is being carried out by Next Big Thing Developments and their contractors have spent many months painstakingly clearing out the hall's interior.

The Friends of Bank Hall, say that the clear-out has revealed many interesting artefacts that give some insight into the lifestyle of past residents of the building and also provides vital information on its history, parts of which date back to 1608.

Discoveries have included a large stone carved with the initials A B, thought to be those of Adam Bannister the original founder of the hall. And remains of the original ornate plasterwork and fireplace tiles have also been found.

The Friends, working with Heritage Trust for the North West, have campaigned to save the building for more than 20 years and say they are delighted to see work finally progressing which will give it a new lease of life.

When the work is complete the Friends will be based in the restored Prospect Tower and central vestibule spaces of the hall where they will host exhibitions and educational seminars.

Meanwhile, the Friends are holding an Easter Bunny Hunt on Sunday, April 1 from 12 to 4pm at the site, where children will be invited to find Easter bunnies hidden in grounds to win a chocolate Easter egg. Entry is £2 for adults with children admitted free but with a small fee for taking part in the bunny hunt.

Restoration work on historic Bank Hall which started last summer is expected to take 18 months to complete.

MP accuses county council of ignoring West Lancs issues

ROSIE Cooper has accused Lancashire County Council of ignoring complaints by West Lancs residents.

The MP says she has faced waiting times recently of up to three-and-a-half months for responses to her correspondence, when representing the issues of constituents.

Ms Cooper says that hundreds of residents write to her each month with issues and concerns many of which fall under the remit of the county council.

But she claims a handful of cases are still outstanding from 2017, while more than 20 are still waiting for a response after four weeks or more.

She said: "It seems that Lancashire County Council are in complete disarray. For any organisation to take more than three months to respond to a communication is shocking and LCC seems to forget that the county council is funded by the council taxpayers of West Lancashire, as well as other parts of Lancashire. They really do need to get their act together and start serving the residents of West Lancashire as they are paid to do.

"I will be meeting with the chief executive, Angie Ridgwell, in the coming weeks to seek answers to all of my outstanding casework issues and attempt to get an agreed timeframe for responses which meets my constituents' needs."

Opticians recognised for support of staff welfare

THE Ormskirk branch of Specsavers has received the company's Platinum Employer accreditation in recognition of its continued efforts in career development and the support of employee welfare.

Platinum Employer status is measured by five indicators of the employee experience, including talent management, recruitment and induction, and performance management and reward.

Neil Pearson, ophthalmic director at the branch in Church Street, credits the store's success to his team of talented professionals.

He said: "We count ourselves lucky to have a great variety of professionals working here, who have decades of experience under their belt.

Loyalty

"This award is down entirely to their expertise and dedication which has fostered a brilliant working environment in which new talent can really flourish.

"Their loyalty means we can deliver an amazing service to our customers and give back to the community through employment opportunities. We are always looking at how we can improve as an employer and this is a fantastic reward for the team's continued hard work and enthusiasm."

Specsavers director of human resources, Mark Moorton, added: "The Platinum Employer scheme is an exciting new addition to our portfolio of training and development programmes, helping our staff to benefit from the opportunity of a full-career journey from entry-level to store owner."

County's new coroners sworn in

THE official Swearing of Oath ceremony for the new Coroners Service for Lancashire and Blackburn with Darwen was held in Lancaster Castle. Coroners and assistant coroners gathered for the ceremony conducted by the outgoing High Sheriff of Lancashire, Robert Mitchel Webb.

ADVERTISING FEATURE

Local slimmer Fiona was 'Amazed' when she discovered Slimming World, be inspired by her story:

"When I was refused life insurance because of my weight and my doctor told me that I would have to have cholesterol tablets for life, I knew it was time to do something. I looked at weight loss surgery and apart from the high cost, the diet was truly restrictive. I had had some success with Slimming World in the past and knew the real benefits of Food Optimising. A few of my friends had lost weight with Slimming World, so I decided to go with them – safety in numbers!

In my group, I found a room full of people who all wanted the same thing, to lose weight. We share recipe ideas, celebrate weight losses, and give each other moral support in person or through Facebook. Without the support of our Consultant and my love group, I do not think I would have stuck at it. Slimming World is not about what you cannot eat but filling yourself, and I mean filling, with the right foods so you are not reaching for the wrong foods.

I love to cook so I find Slimming World a match made in heaven. Breakfast - spinach and mushroom omelette or cauliflower toasties. Lunch – is either a baked potato with salad or if I am on the go – shop brought chicken and cherry tomatoes. Dinner is the best part, so many delicious family friendly meals to choose from but I love Slimming World chips with steak or slow cooked ginger and orange pulled pork. Desserts, I love my own Eton mess. Snacks – I am a big berry lover, apples, pears or melons and Mullerlight yoghurts. When I want a treat, I reach for kid size treats chocolate, choc shots on orange segments or a curly whirly. And eating all this I've gone from squeezing into a pair of size 20 jeans to a size 12 and an amazing 3.5 stone weight loss so far!"

Hospital set to stage special health check event to mark World Kidney Day

STAFF at Southport Hospital will be running a special event for residents to check how well their kidneys are functioning.

The Southport and Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust is celebrating World Kidney Day by hosting an information and awareness stand from 10am to 4pm on Thursday, April, 12.

The stand is being presented by Doctor Raza and Doctor Wong from the trust's nephrology (kidney) department along with the members of Southport Kidney Fund, who provide assistance to all patients with kidney failure. Theme of this year's stand is 'kidney disease and obesity.'

Ann Glover, chair of Southport Kidney Fund, said: "Southport Kidney Fund is a charity run by patients and carers for other local patients, adults and children, who are pre-dialysis, on dialysis or transplanted.

"I was on dialysis for nearly seven years while waiting for a transplant. Then 12 years ago my son gave me a kidney for which I can never repay him.

"The transplant has freed me from dialysis and prolonged my life but I still have a lot of health difficulties. Life is never the same after kidney failure. We need to raise awareness of this life-threatening problem."

Dr Hasnain Raza, consultant physician and nephrologist at the trust, added: "Kidney diseases affects more than three million people in the UK but it can go undetected as people often have no symptoms.

"The good news is that depending on the problem, early detection, changes in lifestyle - including taking more exercise - and a healthy diet can often slow down the progression of the disease, delaying the possible need for dialysis or transplantation."

The main kidney problems are infections, kidney stones, cancer, kidney disease and acute kidney injury.

Kidney infections are usually the result of bacteria in the bladder travelling up to the kidneys. They can cause lower back or genital pain, pain when peeing, blood in your pee, cloudy and smelly pee, feeling feverish, shivery or sick.

These types of infections are more common in women. They can usually be successfully treated with antibiotic tablets and painkillers.

Milly and Lacy after their chocolate-eating scare

Vet's 'keep your dogs away from Easter eggs' warning

WITH families possibly stockpiling chocolate eggs ahead of Easter a local vet has warned dog owners of the dangers of chocolate poisoning to their canine companions.

The reminder of the toxicity of cocoa to man's best friend - which can lead to severe harm including coma - comes as the Rufford Veterinary Group tells of one pet's lucky escape.

The group, which has small animal practices in Ormksirk and Southport, and a horse treatment centre in Holmeswood, says that the owner of two cockerpoos, Milly and Lacy, thought they had hidden the chocolate eggs only for pooches' supersensitive noses to sniff them out.

And by the time the owner realised what had happened the pair had eaten four eggs between them, the equivalent of about 400g of chocolate, with Milly the chief culprit.

Thankfully, the animal healthcare experts said, the owner was quick to work out what had happened and rushed the dogs to the practice for treatment.

Upon arrival they were administered a drug to make them vomit and then fed 'activated charcoal' which helps prevent toxins being absorbed by the digestive system.

And after initially displaying hyperactive behaviour the dogs made a full recovery.

Rufford Veterinary Group surgeon, Iain Fraser, said: "Chocolate contains a compound called theobromine which can be toxic to our canine chums even if consumed in very small quantities. Chocolate poisoning can cause severe harm to your dog, so it is important to act quickly.

"The initial symptoms are vomiting and diarrhoea, but it can take up to 12 hours for the symptoms to become fully apparent, so if you discover your dog has eaten chocolate, contact your vet as soon as possible."

Other chocolate poisoning symptoms include hyperactivity; excessive thirst; panting/rapid breathing; rapid or slow heart rate; high temperature; restlessness; hyperthermia; tremors or muscle spasms; seizures and coma.

Theobromine is more toxic to cats but cats are less prone to eating chocolate since they are unable to taste sweetness.

Mere's Easter Duck Hunt is a 'quacking' family day out

MARTIN Mere's Giant Easter Duck Hunt is a 'quacking' day out for the family!

That's the verdict of Champion reporter, Danielle Thompson, who ventured to the Wildfowl and Wetlands Trust on Fish Lane in Burscough with a friend and two children for the family-friendly Dusty's Giant Hunt, which runs until Sunday, April 8.

Here's what she found...

I hadn't been to Martin Mere for years, so I didn't really know what to expect but the hunt is a really fun, family-themed activity for all ages.

My friend's two young children were really excited to find as many of the foot-long yellow plastic ducks as possible.

The point of the competition, which costs 50p to enter, is to find 25 ducks, all with names hung around their neck which start with a different letter of the alphabet - and there are tricky names to stop you cheating!

The ducks are hidden all over, from the play area to behind bushes and there's even one cheeky duck up a tree!

And finding the letter that has no named duck to accompany it wins you a healthy snack bar, although I did see some kindly staff letting young players off with less-than-perfect scorecards!

Youngsters Jenson and Maisy McLoughlin enjoying the Easter Giant Duck Hunt at Martin Mere

It was certainly a novel twist on a relaxing day out, as the kids enjoy adding a sense of competition and it makes them even more excited to explore the Mere's different sections, housing birds from Africa, Australasia, North America, South America, Siberia, and Asia, which are ringed by 11 observation hides.

As well as the hunt and trips to see the 'stars' of Martin Mere - the flamingos, storks and otters - and hear about them, as well as watch them being fed, we were also able to enjoy a spot of pond-dipping, using little child-proof nets and trays to discover grubs including snails, water boatmen and water louses, which look like swimming woodlice.

There is also a play area, colouring in and painting sessions, canoe safari and boat trips, a set of three wooden teepees and a huge yurt, as well as a mud hut, plus stone steps jutting out of the edge of one of the ponds, which are great fun for little ones to hop along in their wellies.

Overall, a great, family-friendly activity session which we managed to stretch out to a full day!'

High school's swimmers make a splash at county gala

SPORTY pupils from West Lancashire Community High School proved splash hits in this year's SPAR Lancashire School Games Disability Swimming Gala at the Salt Ayre Leisure Centre, Lancaster.

Youngsters from the School Lane site did the district proud, bringing home a total of 34 medals - 10 gold, 14 silver and 10 bronze.

Megan Moore, scooped gold in the key stage five girls 25m breaststroke, while Rochelle Nelson also struck gold in the key stage five girls 50m front crawl, as well as taking bronze in the 25m front crawl.

Further success followed with silvers in the egg, flip and wobble race and freestyle race, while Kayne Gillard and Morgan Thorpe also both claimed silver in the key stage three and four 50m front crawl competitions.

During the day, children also had the opportunity to participate in wheel chair basketball and handball taster sessions with Andy Whitaker, from the Football Association and Mark Stephenson from Lancashire Sport Partnership.

Chris Hart, school games organiser for West Lancashire, said: "Each year I am blown away by the enthusiasm shown by participants representing their school within the district.

"Congratulations to everyone who managed to secure themselves a medal from West Lancashire this year. The games would also not be possible without the support of the young sports leaders who volunteer to aid us in delivering such a successful event."

The Disability Swimming Gala is the first of two main events in the Lancashire School Games calendar. More than 3,500 children from schools across the county's 15 districts are currently battling it out for a place at the finals which will be held at Blackpool's Stanley Park on July 3. Schools will compete in 16 sports this year, including gymnastics, football, athletics, mixed cricket and touch rugby.

Military enthusiasts group geared up for latest display

Report by Kenny Parker

THE next military-themed event at the Heatons Bridge Inn in Scarisbrick is scheduled for the weekend of April 7 and 8.

Military enthusiasts have been meeting at the venue for 50 years and the group is now formally recognised as the Mid-Lancs Area of the national Military Vehicle Trust.

The group hosts meetings every six months featuring a display of military vehicles, weapons and equipment.

The event on Saturday and Sunday, April 7 and 8, is expected to include a small re-enactment display of the American 82nd Airborne Division.

Heatons Bridge Inn, which is run by Steve and Jacqui Winrow and located on Heatons Bridge Road, has retained a Second World War free-standing brick pillbox which formed part of the Home Guard defence provisions on the grounds.

As done previously, it is planned to set up a small Home Guard display inside the pillbox to give visitors a 'feel' of what it might have been like for a soldier to have been holed up there.

Anyone with a military or military-related vehicle or camp display is welcome to join the group and camp over for the weekend.

The event is also family-friendly and members of the public are invited to visit the displays and chat with the participants. There are no entry fees.

The exhibition runs all day on the Saturday and through to Sunday lunchtime with the group setting up the site on the Friday.

Organisers advise that visitors bring wellies due to the possibility of wet weather and muddy conditions.

To join in the exhibition or for more details contact Paul Connolly on 01704 545786 or Angela Brown on 07774931464.

TV historian Michael Wood to officially open new Viking show

TV HISTORIAN and broadcaster Michael Wood is to officially open the Viking: Rediscover the Legend exhibition at a special private preview on Thursday, March 29.

The Atkinson was chosen as it is the only North West venue to have the touring exhibition in partnership with the British Museum and the Yorkshire Museum.

Special guest have been invited to the opening of the event that sees the most significant Viking treasure hoards ever discovered in Britain on display for the first time together.

Star objects from the British Museum will feature alongside the Yorkshire Museum's world-class collections and will be interpreted in new ways to give a fresh perspective on how Vikings shaped every aspect of life in Britain.

Visitors will see the most famous Viking collections in this country, including the Vale of York Viking Hoard, Cuerdale Hoard and the Bedale Hoard.

As well as featuring "ground-breaking" research by archaeologists and new discoveries by metal-detectorists which will challenge our perceptions of what it means to be Viking.

As part of the celebrations Michael Wood will be delivering a special talk and book signing on Thursday, March 29 at 3pm-Vikings! History and Legend with Michael Wood. Tickets are on sale for £10 and all proceeds are going to The Atkinson Development Trust.

Michael Wood

Michael Wood TV Historian & broadcaster said: "I'm really looking forward to being back in Southport for the Vikings launch.

"It's a brilliant exhibition with some really fascinating and unique items, including extraordinary treasures from Viking hoards buried in the North West-one or two discovered only very recently. The Vikings left a real imprint on our region, on its society, dialect and place-names.

"In the Middle Ages, as St Patrick said, the Irish Sea was mare nostrum, 'our sea', and it was criss-crossed by Viking longships sailing to and from Dublin, Anglesey Cumbria and Chester with warriors and pirates, traders and travellers: no wonder then that south Lancashire and the Wirral were the setting for some of the most dramatic events of this turbulent time.

"In my talk I'll be talking about those events, weaving stories around some of the most exciting and intriguing exhibits."

Cllr Trish Hardy, Sefton Council's cabinet member communities and housing said: "The Liverpool City Region is truly proving to be a powerhouse for cultural tourism this year with Vikings and the Chinese Terracotta Army – both with such national and worldwide significance.

"This is a great time for both Sefton and the wider city regions' tourism ambitions. It's also a testament to the wonderful Atkinson and its staff that we can host such incredible exhibitions such as the Vikings all year round."

Viking: Rediscover the Legend opens to the public on Saturday, March 31 with a special family open day. Come and see the two Viking Ships and Viking re-enactments showing people how life was like for the Vikings and making themed artefacts.

Viking: Rediscover the Legend is on display from Saturday, March 31 – Saturday, July 7. Tickets are on sale now online at theatkinson.co.uk via Box Office 01704 533333 or over the counter. .

Miss Saigon takes audiences on an emotional roller coaster

Review by Henry James

THE mega-musical Miss Saigon is back in Manchester for the first time since 2001.

This production is the revival, which was first performed in the West End in 2014 at the Prince Edward Theatre and was staged to mark the 25th anniversary of the musical.

The story of Miss Saigon is taken from Giacomo Puccini's opera Madame Butterfly, and the musical is written by Claude-Michel Schonberg and Alain Boublil, the team behind Les Miserables.

This show has as much emotional punch as Les Mis, and the action is full on from the start until the finish.

The plot centres around American Gi Chris (Ashley Gilmour), who spends a night with Kim (Sooha Kim), and then falls in love with her. The pair work well together and I think the audience feels more sympathy with Kim as she puts too much faith in Chris.

Sooha Kim is an amazing singer who is able to belt out some powerful and complex numbers with aplomb, such as I'd Give My Life For You.

The Engineer (Red Concepcion) owns the brothel where Chris and Kim meet.

Although the character is sinister, he also provides humour as well. The Engineer's famous musical number is The American Dream. Red's performance of that song was met with rapturous applause on the night I went, and deservedly so.

Ashley Gilmour as Chris and Sooha Kim as Kim in Miss Saigon. Image by Johan Persson

Miss Saigon is well-known for its set pieces and the revival has kept the famous helicopter scene, which is a breathtaking piece of live theatre. How do they manage to do that?

However this show is not just about its set pieces and it also has plenty of heart as well. It also highlights a number of issues, such as the consequences of the Vietnam War. No better is this shown in the number Bui Doi which is powerfully performed by John (Ryan O'Gorman).

The song is about children who were born during the Vietnam War and have an America soldier as a father and a mother who is Vietnamese.

The music of this production might not be as well-known as Les Miserables, but it has some good numbers, such as The Heat Is On and Last Night of the World, and the touring production has an extensive orchestra.

This musical, which can be seen until May 12 at the Palace Theatre, takes audiences on an emotional roller coaster. 9/10

It turns out that the battleground for motoring supremacy is Milton Keynes

Life On Cars
DAVID SIMISTER
www.lifeoncars.co.uk

A LONG time ago the blistering heat of the California desert or a fortnight spent in the bitter cold of the Arctic circle were what counted when it came to developing your new car. But it turns out that the latest battleground for motoring supremacy is… Milton Keynes.

Ford dispatched a fleet of Mondeos fitted with some very clever experimental equipment there and – in the best traditions of Tomorrow's World – a man with a beard and a tweed jacket to attempt to explain their cunning new plan. Essentially, they've sent a team of drivers out into this glorious 1960s vision of a New Town and asked them simply to park somewhere.

Which, if you've ever been to Milton Keynes on a busy Monday morning, can be easier said than done.

If all goes to plan, the Fiesta or Focus you buy in a few years' time will be able to scan the car park quicker than you can, letting you know exactly where that elusive empty space is before the irritating birk in the BMW 1-Series swoops in and steals it at the last second.

It's important stuff; apparently most of us motoring types lose a day a year looking for parking spaces.

Naturally, Volkswagen wasn't going to let Ford take all the credit for solving our parking problems forever, and just a few days later put out a press release pointing out that it's been honing its Park Assist system for more than 20 years across three generations of tech, and is now working on an app that'll talk to your Golf and let you know where all the empty – and better still, cheap – spaces are.

The fact that the combined brainpower of at least two motoring giants is finally being applied to making parking less irritating is wonderful, but what I'm really looking forward to is seeing the Fiestas and Polos of a decade's time solving the really annoying problems of car parks.

Wouldn't it be great, for instance, if they could fire lasers at all those off-roaders parked diagonally across three spaces? Or have anyone who clips your bodywork with a carelessly-opened door automatically arrested on the spot and sentenced to four years' hard labour for automotive neglect?

I'd go out and buy a new Golf tomorrow if it knew what to do when the ticket reader at a multi-storey stops working, leaving you trapped with six impatient shoppers stuck behind you.

What I'd suggest to Ford is that it carries on its important research in the interests of helping the British public by moving its crack team of Mondeo-driving scientists a bit further north than Milton Keynes.

If they – or Volkswagen's researchers, for that matter – can solve the stresses of parking in Southport town centre or the Skelmersdale Concourse for good, then their millions will have been worthwhile.

David Simister is the editor of Classic Car Weekly

Group wins national award

A DEALERSHIP have been given the Best Retail Sales Team of the Year Award at national awards ceremony.

The family-run Chapelhouse Motor Group have branches across the North West.

Terry Clarke, Richard Lauriston and Toni-Ann Gould were recognised at the DS National Awards for their hard work and commitment, with customer satisfaction scores of 100%.

Richard Lauriston said: "It's great to have recognition for a job well done. Not only is it a confidence booster, it also shows to customers that you're doing things right. That's exactly the situation with the Best Retail Sales Team of the Year Award.

"With such a customer satisfaction rating, we need to thank our customers too. It's great to know that our team work and dedication to doing what's right for them, is making all the difference."

Founded by businessman Nick Coen in 1989, the Chapelhouse Motor Group specialise in vehicles from the Citroen and DS family but also in Suzuki, Kia, Peugeot and Fiat.

If you're looking for a saloon to outrun a Porsche 911...

IF YOU'RE looking for a comfy saloon that'll carry five in comfort – and outrun a Porsche 911 and Jaguar F-Type to 60mph – then you might want to take a look at BMW's new M5.

For the first time in the model's history it's fitted with four-wheel-drive, making the 600bhp generated by the twin-turbo V8 easier to handle, and the eight-speed gearbox has been set up for quick changes.

It's available to order now, with prices starting at £89,645.

Four-wheel-drive makes the new BMW M5 easier to handle in tricky conditions than its predecessor

Burscough prepare for crucial Easter fixtures

SUPPORTERS for both sets of local sides will have different feelings going into the Easter fixtures.

Skem fans can relax and enjoy the football, while Burscough supporters will be desperately hoping their side can pick up some much needed points.

Burscough are still embroiled in a fight for survival. They now embark on a run of four consecutive away games.

Saturday sees them head down the M6 to Congleton Town while on Easter Monday they will join the rush and head to Blackpool where they take on Squires Gate.

Neither of the Linnets opponents looks exactly invincible so they have high hopes of gathering some points. Congleton are presently in 14th position in the table, five points ahead of Burscough.

Skelmersdale have probably rid themselves of relegation worries so they can enjoy their trip into the 'Rhubarb Triangle' at Ossett Albion on Easter Saturday.

Albion sit one point and one place behind Skem in the Evo-Stik Division One North table, but both have been in good form recently and have both moved to safety.

Three weeks ago this represented a crucial fixture for both teams but they can now both take matters easier.

Easter Monday sees another interesting one for Dave Powell's outfit when they are at home to promotion chasing Bamber Bridge (3pm kick off).

The visitors will be looking for three points so it should be a good game, plus they are likely to bring a good few spectators with them, so the atmosphere should be good too.

Mooney strike earns Skem deserved point

Colwyn Bay 1
Skelmersdale United 1

SKELMERSDALE moved 11 points from the bottom of the league table after a hard-earned point away from home, writes Neil Leatherbarrow.

When the hosts took the lead it was a bit of a surprise. Home number nine Danny Bartle set off after a long ball with two Skem players at his shoulders before firing an excellent low drive under Cheetham and into the net.

On 50 minutes George Withe won a corner on the left and Bakkor was very quick over to the ball to take the kick.

Bakkor drove the ball to the centre of the penalty and it fell to Phil Mooney, who was able to bring the ball down to his feet then dispatch it low into the Colwyn net to equalise.

Colwyn were going to have to go onto the attack if they were going to get the three points their play-off requirements demanded, while Skem were now bristling with confidence, especially when they went forward.

Dave Powell introduced the speedy Tunde Owolabi from the bench and his speed had Colwyn worried for the rest of the game. The hosts made a couple of changes in an attempt to generate some threat up front.

The best Colwyn could do though was a couple of free-kicks and a series of pretty harmless looking shots from distance. Cheetham didn't actually have a save to make.

The last 10 minutes were the best of the game. First Bakkor got behind the home defence but from a very acute angle his shot beat the far post, then on 84 minutes Owolabi ran onto a lovely cross field ball from Liam Davies and saw his shot thump against angle of post and crossbar.

In the 87th minute keeper Cooper beat away a powerful shot from Bakkor, then a minute from time Skem had an appeal for a penalty turned down.

There was one last scare for Skem in added time when striker and former Skem player Jamie Rainford was allowed too much space on the edge of the penalty area, his shot bobbled against the foot of Cheetham's post and was cleared. On the balance of play that would have been a huge injustice, but it still brought big sighs of relief from the Skem supporters.

Such is the improvement in Skem over the last three weeks that they could easily finish mid-table.

Whyte double isn't enough as Linnets lose to fellow strugglers

Burscough 2
AFC Liverpool 3

BURSCOUGH lost a five goal thriller at the bottom of the table against fellow strugglers AFC Liverpool.

Centre-forward Whyte charged through the visitor's backline before lobbing the ball over Cookson to make it 1-0 to Burscough in the opening ten minutes.

The visitors grabbed their first equaliser at the start of a frantic ten minutes before the interval, Chris Brady popping up on the edge of a cross to clinically finish to a quality cross field ball.

The goal clearly gave AFC a lift, but it was Burscough who were to score next, in the 43rd minute, via Whyte again, this time smashing home a header from a corner.

All Burscough had to do was hang on for a few minutes but they couldn't. A defensive slip up gave away skipper James Howell an opportunity that he gratefully accepted.

In the 51st minute the Linnets defence failed to clear an Andy Lewis corner and the ball fell to the feet of defender Callum Edgar who had gone forward for the flag kick, he wasted no time in firing the ball into the net to make the score 2-3.

Burscough piled on the pressure in the latter stages but by then AFC were entrenched at the back and simply allowing Burscough nothing in the way of viable chances and salvaging a point.

The result puts Burscough under some pressure in their remaining ten league games.
